To determine the watch size that you need - you need to measure your wrist or measure a correctly sized watch that you already have.

Measuring Your Wrist: Use the watch ruler to measure the circumference of your wrist. You should make sure the tape fits snugly around your wrist. After you have determined your wrist circumference, add 7mm (1/4 inch) for comfort.

Measuring an Existing watch that is already correctly sized: Place the watch ruler inside the watch with the watch/bracelet closed. Expand the ruler on the inside of the watch until it is snug. Starting at the beginning of the tape, write down the length of the ruler where it first crosses itself. You do not need to add an extra amount to that measurement.

Selecting your watch size on the web site:

For each watch shown on a Gilletts Jewellers web site you will see the option to choose your watch size. The watch size will be selected as 'standard size' by default. To choose a different size, click on the 'watch size' drop down box for the watch that you wish to order. Simply select the required size to the nearest measurement displayed. If you are placing your order by telephone, please tell us the size that you require.
